TC SQUARED ARTISTIC DIRECTOR Rosalind Thomas-Clark writes:

The Next Stage: TC Squared – New Theatre Outside the Box - will move forward today with our first One-Act Play Festival. We invited back three young playwrights whose work we had previously presented in earlier versions. Those pieces have been developed into short plays, with the help of our dramaturge, Marty Kingsbury.

These plays not only reflect the personal growth of these young voices, but also display their courage. It is challenging for a writer to expose her or his ideas in such an emotionally vulnerable way. We are proud of the work that Raiza Cheng, Jahcobie Cosom and Yolandi Cruz have created. We are also proud of the skilled actors who have volunteered their time to bring these pieces to life on the stage.

TC Squared first presented The Next Stage in 2008, and, since then there have been five Staged Readings of new work, as well as two Weekend Retreats and Readings for playwrights and actors at WHAT – Wellfleet Harbor Actors Theatre, on Cape Cod. We have also been invited to perform at several special events, and this fall we will be coordinating a Writers’ Workshop in conjunction with Company One. (See details below)

The BAA alumni who contribute tirelessly to make these voices heard, led by Nikki Prefontaine and Raiza Cheng, must be applauded. Our Mission Statement still reverberates through the work we do. Long may it continue!

Rosalind Thomas-Clark - April 2013

Rosalind Thomas-Clark continues to work professionally as an actor and director for stage, radio, and film, and, committed to theatre for social change, she started her own theatre company, TC Squared: New Theatre Outside the Box. Last year, she appeared as Hecuba in Trojan Women at Whistler in the Dark Theatre Company, Boston. TC directs productions from young playwrights and actors that address relevant contemporary issues. She also heads the team for the prestigious experiential summer program, London Cultural Connections, which has been affording students this life-changing experience since 1995. In 2014, this high school program will add a new component – a program for teachers. A life-long teacher of literature, theatre and the arts, Ms. Thomas-Clark received her undergraduate degree in theatre from the Guildhall School in London, and her master’s degree at Brown University. Involved in several start-up arts organizations, she was the founder and director of the Theatre Workshop in Edinburgh, Scotland; the South Island Workshop and the Music Theatre Group in London, England; the Open House Community Arts in Yorkshire, England; the Watershed at the Bristol Arts Centre in England; and The Maidment Arts Centre at the University of Auckland in New Zealand.

Her work with the urban community has included founding TOY (Theatre Outreach for Youth) during her time at Brown University. She was a founding faculty member and Chair of Theatre at the Boston Arts Academy for ten years. The recipient of a SURDNA Arts Teacher’s Fellowship in 2003, she studied with Augusto Boal in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, at the Center for the Theatre of the Oppressed, working in prisons, favelas, and with other community organizations. In the summer of 2006, she traveled with ten BAA students to perform at the Edinburgh International Fringe Festival in Scotland, UK. She was awarded Boston’s Teacher of the Year Award in 2005, and a SURDNA Artist Colony Grant in 2008. She lives in Cambridge, Massachusetts, near her three children and five grandchildren.
